

Hello my name is Ron

I am retired from the NYCPD! In the years from 1972-76 I had the privilege to work security for the greatest entertainer the world has ever known and that was the king himself Elvis Presley. He was the most down to earth human being a very caring person he was so funny he could have you laughing until you couldn't catch your breathe, he could of been a great comedian. When I met him face to face I was so blown away on how extremely good looking this man was. His face was chiseled like a Greek god. The only thing I could think of on how good looking he really was is to find the best looking picture of him and times that by 10 and his voice was just as great as his looks, he was the whole package. This year for the first time after people were saying for years you need to go to the Elvis Festival in Lake George. So for the first time I went! I was very impressed by all the Elvis impersonators they were all great. But there was one impersonator that stood out among the rest to the point of giving me the goosebumps and I immediately said to myself OMG his voice scares me because that's the exact voice that I have heard when working for Elvis and I was so taken back from his performance that I had to go right up to him and shake his hand and said wow you scared me and he replied as saying why? because of your voice it was identical to Elvis who I worked for. He introduced himself as Sylvain luduc from Canada and he was such a gentle kind person with a great personality. I suggested to him that you need to consider doing this full time and he said that's my dream. Well he is the whole package and Without a doubt in my mind he will be the next ultimate Elvis.

Thank you Sylvain for bringing back those lost memories!
God Bless You! Ron
